PETITION REQUESTING CORRECTED FILING RECEIPT
(CORRECTION OF BENEFIT CLAIM)

Commissioner for Patents

Attention: Office of Initial Patent Examination's Customer Service Center

P.O. Box 1450

Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Sir:

This is a request to correct a benefit claim after filing.

Reference to the prior applications was made in the first sentence of the specification. However, an incorrect serial number was inadvertently identified therein. The serial number was set forth therein as "09/703,474," and should have correctly read "09/703,484." Correction is now requested.

UNINTENTIONALLY DELAYED BENEFIT CLAIM-FEE REQUIRED

Under 37 C.F.R. 1.78(a), an unintentionally delayed request to correct a benefit claim after filing can be submitted with a petition requesting such, and the surcharge of $1300.00 as set forth in 37 C.F.R. 1.17(t).

It is believed that the error arose because the instant application and the parent applications were filed and prosecuted, until now, by different firms. The parent application, U.S. Serial No. 09/703,484, was filed on October 31, 2000 by the predecessor of the undersigned law firm of Reed & Eberle LLP. The instant application, U.S. Serial No. 09/912,609, was filed on July 25, 2002, by the firm of Woodcock Washburn. The two applications were prosecuted by these respective firms until about May 27, 2003, when the instant application was transferred to the undersigned.

Upon review of the transferred file wrapper of the instant application, U.S. Serial No. 09/912,609, the error in benefit claim was brought to light and correction is now being requested. Applicants assert that this benefit claim has been unintentionally delayed since the error was just now realized.

CORRECTION TO OFFICIAL FILING RECEIPT

Attached is a copy of the official Filing Receipt received from the Patent Office and mailed August 21, 2001 in the above-identified application for which issuance of a corrected filing receipt is respectfully requested.

This application is a CIP of 09/703,474 10/31/2000

-- This application is a CIP of 09/703,484 10/31/2000
which is a CIP of 09/478,124 01/05/2000 --.
